Better Speakers and Leaders

Toastmasters is the best way for anyone—whether a working professional, student, stay-at-home parent or retiree—to improve his or her communication and leadership skills. Members overcome the fear of public speaking and learn skills that aid them in becoming more successful. Toastmasters creates better listeners and stronger team members and leaders who can comfortably give and receive constructive evaluations.

Joining Toastmasters

Joining a Toastmasters club is easy. A listing of clubs by geographic area can be located on the Toastmasters website at www.toastmasters.org/find. Visitors to the website can select the most convenient club, attend a meeting and apply for membership. (Applicants must be 18 or older.) New clubs can be started with permission and assistance from Toastmasters International.

Linda Lingle

Former Governor of Hawaii

"Toastmasters is the best and least expensive personal improvement class you can go to. Anybody who begins and sticks with it for any length of time ends up a better speaker. As a result, they build confidence and are able to do their jobs better."

All About TOASTMASTERS

WHERE LEADERS
ARE MADE

How Toastmasters Works

At Toastmasters, members learn by speaking to groups and working with others in a supportive environment. A typical Toastmasters club is made up of 20 to 30 people who meet once a week for approximately an hour. Each meeting gives members several opportunities:

▶ Conduct meetings

Members learn how to plan and conduct meetings.

▶ Give impromptu speeches

Members present one- to two-minute, impromptu speeches about assigned topics.

▶ Present prepared speeches

Members present speeches based on projects from Toastmasters' communication and leadership program. Projects cover topics such as speech organization, vocal variety, language, gestures and persuasion.

▶ Offer constructive evaluation

Every speaker is assigned an evaluator who points out speech strengths and offers suggestions for improvement.

Toastmasters Tools

Upon joining a Toastmasters club, each new member receives resources about how to become a better speaker and a more confident leader. Members also have access to a wide variety of educational resources. In addition, they receive the award-winning Toastmaster, a monthly magazine that offers the latest insights about speaking and leadership techniques.

Toastmasters and Leadership

Leadership takes practice. In Toastmasters, members learn leadership skills by organizing and conducting meetings and completing projects. The projects address skills such as listening, planning, motivating, and team building and give members the opportunity to practice them. Just as Toastmasters members improve communication by speaking, they learn leadership skills by leading.

Company Benefits

A company's success depends on communication. Employees interact with their colleagues and customers to exchange ideas, messages and information. How well they communicate and share their ideas can determine whether a company grows into an industry leader or is mired in mediocrity. At a very reasonable cost,

Toastmasters teaches employees to become better presenters and leaders:

- ▶ Give better sales presentations
- ▶ Hone their management skills
- ▶ Work better with fellow employees
- ▶ Develop and present ideas more effectively
- ▶ Offer constructive criticism
- ▶ Accept feedback more objectively

Toastmasters produces results. Around the world more than four million men and women of all ages and occupations have benefited from Toastmasters. Thousands of corporations, community groups, universities, associations and government agencies currently use the Toastmasters program.

Community Benefits

Toastmasters helps many members in their community-service activities. Using the skills developed in Toastmasters, members have become more active in business, church, service and charity organizations. Toastmasters are able to organize activities, conduct meetings and speak in public as their organizations' representatives. Some even become active in local, state or national government.
